House Passes Postal Pay Bill

Ignores Threats Of Veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, ignoring threats of a presidential veto, passed by a lopsided margin Tuesday a bill to boost the pay of 518,000 postal workers by $546 a year.

A vote of 379-38 sent the bill to the Senate, which has been working in committee on a smaller pay raise.

Voting for the bill were 217 Democrats and 162 Republicans. Nine Democrats and 29 Republicans voted against it.

The House vote was far above the two-thirds majority that would be needed to enact the measure over a veto.

Predict Veto

Some House members freely predicted President Eisenhower will exercise his veto power if the Senate also passes the bill. Their forecasts were based on Eisenhower's stated opposition to any general pay increase for federal workers at this time.

Eisenhower has argued that government, business and labor should avoid any action that could add to inflationary pressures.

Raises Costs

The bill passed by the House would raise government costs an estimated 318 million dollars a year. The across-the-board pay boost would add about 12½ per cent to the average salary of postal workers, now $4,340 a year.

A Senate committee has approved a 7½ per cent pay increase, which would be fattened by some upward cost of living adjustments.

Postal workers have had one general pay boost since mid-1951, a 6 per cent increase in basic salaries in 1955.

Power Of Section 3 Of Civil Rights Bill Appears Lost

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate supporters of the civil rights bill were defeated Tuesday in two attempts to save — by compromise amendments — most of the enforcement powers in Section 3 of the bill.

They appeared to be fighting a losing battle against a bipartisan move to strip the bill of all its enforcement powers except those protecting voting rights. A vote on this question comes Wednesday.

An amendment by Sen. Bricker (R - Ohio), which would have placed enforcement powers in the hands of the President instead of the attorney general, was rejected 61-29.

The Senate then proceeded to crush with an 81-81 vote a second compromise proposal by Sen. Cooper (R-Ky). Cooper's amendment would have permitted the attorney general to intervene in civil rights cases only after an individual complained that a conspiracy existed to deny him rights in defiance of a court order.

As Section 3 now stands, the attorney general can start injunction suits to prevent violations of a wide variety of civil rights. It has been fought bitterly by Dixie Democrats, who call it a weapon to force racial integration of the schools in the South.

British Jets Stand Ready To Blast Oman Rebel Strongholds

LONDON, Wednesday (AP) — British jets stood ready on the Persian Gulf Wednesday with orders to start blasting rebel strongholds in Oman at daybreak.

Thousands of leaflets were showered over rebel-held areas in the desert Tuesday warning tribesmen to call off their revolt against the British-allied Sultan of Muscat and Oman.

Officials in London did not specify when an ultimatum against the rebels expires.

But in Bahrein, on the border of troubled Oman, British authorities said the rebels were warned to withdraw Tuesday night from Nizwa, the ancient Omani capital they seized last week.

Press dispatches from Oman said pilots of the jets there were ordered to blast rebel strongholds "wide open" with cannon and rockets in a show of force at dawn.

Villagers were warned in leaflets to stay clear of the target area for 28 hours.

Sir Bernard Burrows, British resident at Bahrein, told newsmen RAF fighters from Aden, British crown colony in southern Arabia, were assigned to stage an "armed demonstration" if the ultimatum is ignored.

The jets were poised at the RAF base at Sharja, Trucial Oman, north of the desert and hills held by the rebels.

Both the ultimatum and a second leaflet calling on the inhabitants to rally to Britain's friend, 40-year-old Sultan Said bin Taumur, were dropped within a radius of 50 miles around Nizwa. Nizwa is the center of the rebellion launched four days ago by followers of Imam Ghaleb Ben Ali, religious ruler of Oman who was driven into exile in Saudi Arabia two years ago.

Arrest Widow On Spy Charge In W. Germany

BONN, Germany (AP)—West German security agents reported Tuesday the arrest of a white-haired, 68-year-old widow on suspicion of spying for the Communists in her quiet hotel—a favorite spot for foreign diplomats.

The Federal Security Agency said Mrs. Charlotte Wallbruch was arrested on suspicion of treason after microphones were found under the floor of the rooms occupied by the diplomats.

But the key figure in the case, Gerhard Roller, 33, an architect from Communist East Berlin, has escaped to the East.

The security agents told this story:

About two or three years ago Communist agents of the East zone espionage organization headed by Ernest Wollweber heard that the widow was in financial difficulties. They offered her money to turn her small private hotel in the resort suburb of Bad Godesberg into a spy nest.

Her guests included many diplomats, from Britain, Holland, Pakistan, Yugoslavia and Afghanistan. There were even Russians N. W. Senin, counsellor of the Soviet Embassy, stayed there for a time.

Roller came from East Berlin and, on the pretext of repairing the hotel bell system, installed tiny microphones under the floorboards of each room.

These were connected to a recording apparatus in an attic.

There Roller spent hours recording the conversations of the unwary diplomats. The tape recordings were sent to Berlin in spice tins. The microphones, smaller than matchboxes, were so ingenious that they are being specially examined by the security agency.

The recordings were supplemented by reports from the widow written in invisible ink on the back of apparently innocent family letters. Sometimes she flew to Berlin to deliver reports personally—and also collect her pay.

She had been told to observe the movements of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, whose residence is directly opposite the hotel on the other side of the Rhine.

MUSIC GOES ON– HOUSE IS EMPTY

WASHINGTON, (AP) — A seven-piece dance orchestra will play at the Casino Royal each night this week, just as it has for the last 6½ years, but with this difference —no dancers.

Robert A. Doran, business agent of Local 161, Federation of Musicians, had this explanation:

The club's management wanted to close the night spot for alterations a week before the orchestra's contract expired. The union insisted the club make good its end of the contract. So the orchestra was ordered by the club manager to report nightly this week, dressed in white dinner jackets, and play to the empty house.

Doctor Stresses Need To Make Smoking Safe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. John R. Heller, director of the National Cancer Institute, said Monday every effort should be made to make smoking safe so long as people enjoy it.

"We have no intention of joining the antitobacco league," he told a House Government Operations subcommittee.

The subcommittee is studying advertising claims of filter cigarettes; its hearings have branched out into the general subject of cigarette smoking and lung cancer.

Tuesday Heller reported: "There is mounting evidence that when tobacco is burned at about 800 degrees, there is a chemical change in certain hydrocarbons which bring about certain cancer causing compounds.

"We do not know which of these compounds is the culprit."

He said that, obviously, further research is needed.

Dr. LeRoy E. Burney, head of the U.S. Public Health Service, testified "we do not have sufficient evidence at this time" to recommend that warning labels be placed on cigarette packages."

Anyhow, he said he didn't think smokers would pay much attention if they were.

"I enjoy smoking myself," Burney said.

Among the old time gold rush camps in Alaska, the flourishing cities of Fairbanks and Nome still have limited gold mining operations today.

Army Cuts Draft Call: Lowest Level In Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army cut its draft calls to the lowest level in more than a year Tuesday, but hastened to say this did not mean the draft would be ended in the near future.

The cut in the manpower levy for next September — 8,000 men, compared with 11,000 in the August call — is in line with the 100,000-man reduction of the armed forces announced by the Pentagon a week ago. The Army's portion of the cut is 50,000.

Not since April 1956 has a Selective Service quota been so low. From January through April of that year the monthly quotas were 6,000.

The Defense Department announcement of the September call said the 3,000 reduction from the August quota reflected the decision to cut manpower in all the services. But the Pentagon said:

"Draft calls for the Army will not be eliminated in the near future because of the reduced strength."

Some of the cut in strength will be brought about by more selective choosing of personnel, especially among those seeking reenlistment, the announcement said.

In his memorandum last week ordering the 100,000-man reduction for the armed services, Defense Secretary Wilson gave a hint that new reductions could be in prospect. He mentioned that a "review of the entire personnel program" will be made late this fall in connection with preliminary studies of the military budget for fiscal 1959.

The September call will bring the total of men drafted since 1950 to 2,239,430. During the Korean War, some monthly quotas mounted to almost 60,000 men.

TWA Pilot Dodges Mysterious Plane 20,000 Feet High

PHOENIX, Ariz., (AP)—A Trans-World Airlines pilot said Tuesday he was unable to identify a mysterious plane nearly 20,000 feet above the Texas plains because he was "too busy avoiding it."

The pilot, Capt. G. M. Schemel of Kenosha, Wis., pulled his huge, four-engine Constellation into a sharp 500-foot descent to avoid a collision Monday night. He said the other craft was definitely a plane, but he could not say what kind. The incident occurred about 10 p.m. near Amarillo, Tex.

Last Wednesday, the pilot of an American Airlines plane with 85 aboard reported a similar incident near El Paso, Tex., about 400 miles southwest of Amarillo.

Schemel said his TWA plane, en route from New York to Phoenix with 34 passengers, was flying at 18,000 feet on instruments when he sighted the plane.

The sudden drop injured two persons. A woman passenger suffered head cuts and a bruised back when thrown to the floor of the plane. A hostess suffered minor injuries when struck by a falling suitcase.

"It was dark out and there was no moon," Schemel said. "All we saw was a red light and a green light bearing down on us."

(Such lights are standard nighttime equipment on civilian and military aircraft).

"As we lowered the plane," Schemel added, "the plane went over our head and that's all there was to it.

Hunt Big Cat Or Cougar Near Libertyville

LIBERTYVILLE, Ill. (AP) — A large cat, possibly a cougar, was sought Tuesday by hunters and dogs—and by people who just stayed in their cars and used field glasses.

Two Libertyville policemen said they surprised, and were surprised by the animal which stared at them from a golf course as they made their rounds in a squad car.

"It was about the size of a big dog," said Policeman Curt Hubbard.

"It just looked at us, and then walked off," said Policeman Clinton Grinnell.

On the strength of his officers' report, Police Chief Edward Knigge of Libertyville organized a hunting party of more than a dozen persons.

Willie Necker of Wheeling, a dog trainer, joined the party with a couple of his Doberman Pinschers. They are educated to hunt criminals, but not averse to pursuing a cat, he said.

At mid-afternoon, neither hide nor hair of the critter has been found.

Knigge said he believes the cat seen near Libertyville is the same which eluded the gunfire of three policeman at nearby Des Plaines last Friday. Casts of the animal's tracks indicated it weighed 50 pounds or more, Des Plaines police said.

Capture Manacled Fugitive In Barn Near St. Elmo

VANDALIA, Ill. (AP)—A handcuffed prisoner who had escaped two U.S. marshals was recaptured Tuesday night in a barn where he had spent most of his time since his escape Monday night.

State police at Effingham said the fugitive, 56-year-old Karol Van Collins, was being taken from the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., to the federal penitentiary at Terre Haute, Ind. He escaped by jumping from their car in a rainstorm.

Paul Rawlinson, a farmer who lives about three miles from nearby St. Elmo, Ill., told officers he noticed a man's leg protruding from a hayloft in his barn and called state police.

Patrolman Eugene Hood made the arrest. Van Vollins offered no resistance. He was still handcuffed. The barn is about seven miles from where he escaped.

Ross B. Hay, one of the U. S. marshals from whom Van Collins fled, could not be reached for comment.

State police said several of their squad cars and eight patrolmen had joined county officers and two FBI cars in the search. One airplane from Vandalia was being used in the search, they said, and another had been requested from Springfield. Bloodhounds also were being used.

Officers said they believed Van Collins was still nearby, possibly hiding out along the Kaskakia River bottomlands. He was handcuffed when he escaped, they said.

The fugitive was described as having black-gray hair, a long forehead and slanting eyes. He was wearing Khaki shirt and pants.

Egyptians Hold Israeli Crewman From Danish Ship

PORT SAID, Egypt (AP)—The Danish freighter Birgitte Toft sailed out of the Suez Canal Tuesday night with a cargo for Israel but minus an Israeli crewman. The sailor-writer was held by Egyptian authorities.

Capt. Hans Lolk told newsmen he was "upset and astonished" that Egyptian police had not returned the man, Raphael Eylon, to his ship.

Egyptian officials said they arrested Eylon at the southern end of the canal Monday because he was taking photographs of the waterway and his behavior was "suspicious."

Authorities in Cairo said an investigation into Eylon's case is continuing but they declined to reveal his exact location.

The captain said, "Eylon was the only Israeli aboard among a crew of 25 men. As for the photos the Egyptian say Eylon took I know nothing about that."

EIGHT TEEN-AGERS DIE — Eight teen-agers, including three from one family, were killed when a Southern Railway freight train struck this car at Somerset, Ky. Face Fine, Six Months In Jail

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — An all-white jury in a surprise verdict Tuesday convicted segregation leader John Kasper and six codefendants in the Clinton criminal contempt trial.

They face up to six months in jail and fines of $1,000 or both.

The jury, which had been exhorted by defense lawyers to preserve the traditional "Southern way of life," deliberated 2 hours and 20 minutes before bringing in its verdict conviction 7 of the 11 defendants of all three counts in the U. S. District Court here. The other four were acquitted.

Defense lawyers, who had confidently predicted a mass acquittal, appeared dazed as jury foreman Powell May, Knoxville, intoned the word "Guilty" after each of the seven names.

Defense Angry

Chief Defense Counsel Robert L. Dobbs of Memphis, his face flushed and angry-red, refused to concede that the verdict constituted a heavy blow to prosegregation forces, who are fighting against the mixing of whites and Negroes in Dixie schools.

Previously, defense spokesmen had characterized the trial as a "history-making" event and declared that its outcome would exert a strong influence on the future course of court-ordered integration in the South.

File For New Trial

"This lawsuit isn't over yet," Dobbs said firmly. "We have filed a motion for a new trial. If that is denied, we will appeal to a higher court.

U. S. Dist. Atty. John C. Crawford Jr., the lanky, booming-voiced prosecutor who conducted the government's case, took the victory for his side without apparent elation.

"My staff and I endeavored to try this case like any government case. The jury has spoken by its verdict. I have no other com-

Officials Call Wedler's Story Of Killing Marilyn Sheppard Hoax

DELAND, Fla. (AP) — Donald J. Wedler's assertion that he killed Marilyn Sheppard is a complete hoax, three Cleveland authorities said Tuesday.

"He's a thousand miles off," said James E. McArthur, who was Cleveland chief of detectives during the investigation of the sensational July 4, 1954, slaying and came out of retirement to check Wedler's story.

"He has a general knowledge of the case and no specific knowledge," said Dr. Samuel Gerber, coroner of Cuyahoga County, Ohio. "What he has is a knowledge he might have got out of magazines and newspapers."

McArthur, Gerber and Dave Yettra, deputy sheriff of Cuyahoga County, talked with Wedler more than four hours.

Sheriff Rodney Thursby who has Wedler, 23, in Volusia County Jail on a Florida charge of prison escape, said he told Cleveland officials basically the same story he gave Thursby last week—how while attempting to burglarize a house in Cleveland he hit a woman over the head with an iron pipe.

One major discrepancy through out Wedler's story has been the number of times he said he struck the woman. He said it was two or three times when he first told his story July 15. In a retelling, he raised it to three or four. Tuesday, officials said, he went up to five.

Mrs. Sheppard was dealt 35 blows, Cleveland authorities said.

Thurshy said he agreed with the Cleveland officials. "From the information here I don't see how he could be connected with it."

This was the 26th confession to the slaying of Mrs. Sheppard, Gerber said, and like all the others, investigation proved it was false. He said Dr. Samuel Sheppard, who is serving life for his

Accuse 4 Men, 2 Women Of Transporting Kidnap Victim

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Federal officials Tuesday bound over to a grand jury four AWOL sailors and their two women companions on charges they transported a kidnap victim from Washington, D.C. to Alton, Ill.

The six, who were captured Monday, were accused in an FBI warrant of transporting a fifth sailor, Technician 2.C. Richard E. Houchins, 25, of Anacostia Naval Air Station at Washington.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Marks Alexander said the six will be held here pending a scheduled September session of the federal jury. Their bond was set at $16,000.

They were identified by U.S. Commissioner William Chittendon as Burgis Michael Duncan, 19, Anderson, Ind.; Louis Joseph Holguin, 21, Turtle Creek, Pa.; Claude Hammons, 22, Baughman, Ky.; James Henry Hammond, 30, Cottage Hills, Ill.; Mary Esther Itri, 31, and Ruth Jean McGuire, 27. The women were identified earlier as waitresses at a Boston tavern.

Houchins, claiming he was threatened but not harmed, notified St. Louis County police immediately after his release Monday at St. Louis Municipal Airport.

Acting on information supplied by him, authorities rounded up Hammond at the home of his divorced wife in nearby Edwardsville, Ill., and the other five at an Alton, Ill. hotel. The four men were identified by authorities as sailors absent without leave from a Boston naval station.

Houchins told police one of his abductors told him, "We're sorry it had to be you, but we had to have a car to get out of Washington."

The victim identified Hammond as the man who accosted him near a Washington sandwich shop and forced him at gunpoint to drive

Group Of Union Officials Demand Cross Resign

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Four vice presidents and the secretary-treasurer of the Bakers Union demanded Tuesday that union President James G. Cross resign.

In a telegram to Cross, the group said that what it termed his "evasive and dishonest performance" before the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee "exposed . . . your unfitness" to hold the union office.

Cross testified before the committee last week and denied any wrongdoing but was unable to answer to the satisfaction of the senators some questions about his financial affairs. Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass) told Cross at the windup that testimony showed Cross had collected some $39,000 in expense accounts, $30,000 of it "not supported by invoices or bills."

Seek To Link Two Slayings In California With Killing Of Three In New Mexico

HOBBS, N. M., (AP)—A cold-blooded killer shot a truck driver and two young women to death before dawn near here Tuesday, and speculation arose that it might be the same man who shot down two California policemen Monday.

Dead were J. D. Cantrell, 27, Carlsbad, N. M., the truck driver; Mrs. Barbara Edward Lemmons and Mrs. Dorothy Fern Gibson, both 23, of Hobbs.

Cantrell apparently had stopped to help the two women fix a flat tire along U. S. 180 in a remote area 36 miles west of this southeastern New Mexico oil center. They were shot with a .22 caliber weapon. So were the El Segundo, Calif., policemen.

The women's bodies were discovered on an isolated oil field road off U. S. 180. Cantrell's body was found where the women had parked.

Sheriff Jewell McAdoo said it is sheer speculation at this time whether there is any connection between the El Segundo killings and the New Mexico deaths. "Ballistics will tell the story," he said.

Police Capt. Lee Maxwell of El Segundo said the killer there escaped a trap set for him and would have had time to reach New Mexico.

Cantrell's body was discovered at 4:10 a. m. by another truck driver, Floyd Smith, Midland, Tex. Police said Smith's arrival at the scene probably came within minutes after the slaying. The motor of Cantrell's truck was still warm.

Cantrell came upon the two women, who had pulled their car off the higtway with a flat tire.

He parked in front of the car and, leaving the motor of his truck running, had started to change the tire.

A third vehicle stopped at the scene. Tire marks of the third vehicle indicated the driver had pulled off the pavement and then had left hurriedly, leaving burnt rubber from his tires in his haste.

There were signs of a terrific struggle behind the women's car.

Cantrell's body was lying partially on the highway. Officers said there were two bullet holes in his head, two in his chest and one in each of his hands.

Police said lead from the bullets was found under his body, indicating that he had been shot at least once after he had fallen.

A search for Mrs. Gibson and Mrs. Lemmons began when their purses and other identification were found in the car. Also, a high school class ring belonging to Mrs. Lemmons was found on the ground near the car.

About six hours later, Bill Wilson, 25, an oil well switcher from Hobbs, discovered the bodies of the two women on the oil field road northwest of Hobbs and 29 miles from where Cantrell's body was found. The bodies were lying in a grassy draw, about eight yards apart.

Officers said there was no motive of robbery in the killings. Cantrell had $4 and his billfold when his body was found.

The two policemen were shot at El Segundo after they stopped a motorist for a traffic violation. The car proved to be stolen. One of the officers was shot three times in the back. The other was shot three times as he jumped out of the police car. They were patrolmen Richard Phillips, 29, and Milton Curtis, 25.

Curtis managed to crawl back to their patrol car before dying and gasp out a call for an ambulance over the police radio. The car the killer had been driving was found abandoned four blocks away, its back end pierced by three bullets from the dying Phillips' gun

Find All Dead In Wreckage Of Plane In Italy

MILAN, Italy, (AP) — Italian Alpine guides Tuesday reached the wreckage of a U. S. Navy plane 7,000 feet up on bleak San Martino and radioed all aboard were dead.

The Navy said the plane had 11 men aboard when it took off from Casablanca Friday for Treviso, Italy. The rescue teams said they had found what appeared to be the remains of 15 or 16.

A group of Italian Alpine troops and U. S. soldiers will try to reach the site Wednesday and decide how to recover the bodies. Police at the mountain base said ruggedness of the area might make use of a helicopter difficult.

The plane, a general service twin - engined Navy PV2, was more than 100 miles off course when it crashed, after having previously been within sight of its landing field.

During the search, an identical plane, with 10 men aboard, crashed into a mountainside near Turin with only one survivor.

Naval authorities here declined to identify the crewmen of either plane until their families have been notified.

Editorial Comment

'Tomorrow And Tomorrow'

Every year Congress is chided in the spring months for not doing enough. Actually this has been a pretty standard pattern for a long time. Of more crucial concern is a developing congressional habit of putting things off not from month to month but from year to year.

The day hardly goes by now without a news story suggesting that one or another piece of major legislation is being shoved aside. It used to be the citizens of Brooklyn who said: "Wait 'till next year." Now it's the boys on Capitol Hill.

Hardy perennials like statehood for Alaska and Hawaii crowd the list of postponed bills.

The issue of federal aid to education, having been kicked around for a decade, still hangs suspended. Obviously it deserves to be settled one way or the other. Uncertainty breeds inaction at the state and local level, where responsibility for school construction and teacher aid rests if there is to be no federal help.

This has been a big year for disclosures of racketeering and financial finagling in labor unions, but chances are reported slim that Congress will do anything promptly to correct the situation by legislation.

Congress has been deferring year after year suggested administration revisions in the Taft-Hartley labor law.

And so it goes. Some measures of consequence do get through the mill, of course, but their number is low. Postponement seems to be the permanent mood of Congress. Why do today what you can put off until tomorrow —and the day after that?

Next year is an election year, and there is no finer excuse for further postponing action. The lawmakers always find it easy to avoid doing something they think might alienate one set or another of voters.

There may come a day of reckoning when voters will be more insistent that legislators do what they are sent to Washington for, instead of jockeying for political position so they can get back to the capital to do nothing all over again.

Brain Power

Based on an endless stream of reports and warnings, the portrait of a general national shortage of engineers, scientists, teachers and other "brain-power specialists" has taken firm shape.

There seems no reason to doubt the authenticity of this portrait, but it is fair to say that many of its details are quite fuzzy.

Consequently the nation must welcome the plan outlined by President Eisenhower's special committee in this field to undertake a thoroughgoing survey.

As we move ahead in an age that appears to be putting constantly heavier stress on brain power, we clearly cannot afford to be caught short. Since we know the Communist world is straining hard to use every ounce of its brain power, the competition plainly is tough and the free world's survival is at stake.

It will be good to have the committee's report on exactly how big our shortage is.

NEW BERN, N. C. (AP)—A state alcoholic beverage control board agent, Albert Russell of New Bern, was poking around in a swampy area near Cherry Point looking for moonshiners.

He naw a trail which looked as if it had been made by a boat. He cautiously guided his own motorboat into the swamp grass.

It wasn't moonshiners. I twas alligators — a mother and her young ones.

Russell retreated. The alligators did too.

It's Case of Getting Off Track to Let Trains Run

BY PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON —(NEA)— Current Senate performance over Civil rights legislation is generally regarded as futile and timewasting.

In another sense, however, it is the most important piece of unfinished business before Congress.

The reason is that the civil rights bill has to be got out of the way before anything else can be done.

When Eisenhower administration leaders let it be known earlier this year that they would like to get civil rights through Congress before the school aid bill was taken up, a lot of old-timers in Washington thought it was a crazy idea.

They foresaw accurately what would happen. The House would pass it. The Senate would bog down in weeks of debate. The result would be a do-nothing Congress.

As a matter of hindsight and second guessing, this program may turn out to be not such a bad bet. For a first-step civil rights bill has a chance to get through the Senate this year.

NOBODY CAN MAKE a flat prediction about it. There are too many gimmicks the shrewder, more ruthless Southern Democratic leaders can put over to sidetrack or block, as they have always been able to do in the past.

These Southern strategists could even give Russian diplomats a few pointers on stalling.

But they are fighting a losing, rear guard action against the coalition of Northern Democrats and Republicans.

Eventually they are doomed to lose and they know it.

What comes out finally may not be the first-step Eisenhower-Brownell bill to guarantee voting rights. There may be compromises or watering down of it.

But if any kind of a civil rights bill is passed by this Congress and signed by the President, it will get this item off the congressional calendars. This will clear the way for action on many other pieces of much-needed legislation.

THE LIST is really formidable.

Most important is the school construction bill. It was killed last year by a fight over antidiscrimination amendments.

Next most important is probably the federal elections reform bill, for which there is a real need next year.

The question of presidential disability regulations would also seem to rate highest priority.

Statehood for Alaska and Hawaii, liberalization of the McCarran-Walter immigration act, easing of restrictions on the admission of refugees and clarification of the status of Hungarian refugees are other civil rights matters deserving more attention.

ON THE PRESIDENT'S standing list of recommendations to Congress are increased minimum wage coverage, federal aid to depressed areas, increased postage rates and admission of the United States to the Organization for Trade Cooperation.

Congressional measures which the Eisenhower administration has opposed include a federal atomic power program, the Hells Canyon dam hydroelectric power project, a two billion dollar pay increase for postal workers, and a comprehensive excise tax reform bill which will probably be lost behind Senator Byrd's Finance Committee investigation of fiscal policy.

In equally controversial fields there are proposed bills to exempt natural gas producers from federal regulation, union welfare fund regulation, pre-merger notification and antimonopoly legislation, Taft-Hartley amendments, and review of recent Supreme Court decisions.

Many of these bills were given little chance for consideration this year, even at the beginning of the session. But none of them can be got at until civil rights are out of the road.

GOOFED EXPERIMENT

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — It was Rufus, not Goofus, who goofed the experiment at Chandler Junior High School here.

Rufus and Goofus were two guaranteed male white mice. Rufus was placed on an unbalanced diet, while Goofus had meals which were a dietician's delight. This was to demonstrate the value of a balanced diet to the kids.

Goofus grew faster—for a while. Then Rufus breezed ahead with more weight and a nice smooth coat. Then Rufus produced ten baby mice. Conclusion: Rufus is a she.

In Hollywood

By BOB MYERS
(For Bob Thomas)

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Football is in an era of defense, Elroy (crazylegs) Hirsch was saying in mournful tones when the conversation suddenly switched to the movies.

Hirsch, who leads a double, even triple life as a star in football, in pictures and as the proprietor of a San Fernando Valley restaurant, observed:

"Give me one big break in pictures and I'd probably give up football.

"It's been great to me, but after 12 years in pro ball you don't need 13 to prove that you can play it."

Movie fans around the country may not be too familiar with Crazylegs, the grid hero, and football fans may be in the same boat regarding Elroy Hirsch, movie star.

Briefly, this 6-foot-2, 195-pounder, one of the most explosive runners and pass receivers in the game, checks in this month for his ninth season with the Los Angeles Rams.

It will be his 13th year in pro ball and his 19th in the game, dating back to high school days in the pretty little Wisconsin town of Wausau.

On the film front, Hirsch has just finished his third major role as a dramatic actor in "Zero Hour," a tale of the airways written and directed by his movie discoverer, young Hall Bartlett.

Recently Hirsch was named in a motion picture exhibitor's poll as one of the top 10 new stars of the screen.

Blond, good-looking Roy was also around in 1951, a year of dynamite for the Ram offense, when he set a National Football League record of 1,495 yards gained and tied the great Don Hutson's record of 17 touchdown passes. The records have not been broken.

Elroy is on the committee of the "Los Angeles Clean City Crusade" and, in addition to his three major jobs, is on the San Fernando Youth Foundation Board, is a director of his church, until recently managed a Little League team and manages to play tennis thrice and golf once a week. He also plays on his church basketball team, is happily married and has two fine youngsters.

Hirsch has never smoked, really celebrates if he has one beer a week but presides as host from early evening to past midnight at his restaurant, appropriately named "The Crazylegs."

"Gol!" said Crazylegs, using his favorite cuss word, "back in Wausau I never thought I'd be doing what I am."

Manners Make Friends

Preparing a pitcher of ice water or a cup of tea or coffee for the workman who spends hours working on a job in your home or yard may not be necessary, but it is a thoughtful thing to do.

Besides, the housewife who is considerate of anyone who does a job for her usually gets a better job.

Boyle's Column

NEW YORK (AP)—The great love affairs of the past were between men and women.

For example: Adam and Eve, Cleopatra and Mark Antony, Romeo and Juliet, Tristram und Isolde, Cyrano de Bergerac and Roxanne, and Tommy Manville and the phone book.

Such romances today are hopelessly old-fashioned and are usually found only among callow teenagers. The great romance of the 20th century isn't between man and woman. It's between women and electrical gadgets.

Since the victory of the equal rights movement many a man has been faced with the problem of how to get a strong-minded woman to cleave to him for life. After all, a woman now has a husband figured out pretty well 10 minutes after leaving the altar.

Some husbands think the answer is to shower their wife with jewelry and furs. But there is a mistake. It only makes her more attractive to other men.

The thing to do, if you are a simple-minded husband (and if the noun fits, the adjective follows), is to get your wife interested in something in your home she can never quite understand. The most suitable thing is electricity. It has everything the wayward feminine mind finds entrancing: power, subtlety, unpredictability.

The newly wed husband who is startled to find his bride yawning when he kisses her would do well to buy her an electric toaster.

This new toy will revive her interest in the home. When the husband finds that in time, however, she starts yawning as she puts the breakfast bread in the toaster, he should realize its simple mechanism bores her (just as he does). It is time for him to buy her a more advanced machine, such as an electric vacuum cleaner.

This will keep her content and humming for a full year. When boredom sets in again, the next move is to buy her a television set, then (in succession) an electric dish washer, an electric oven, an electric massage chair, a series of electric air-conditioners, an electric freezer and an electric clothes washer.

By now you've got your girl wired in forever. She doesn't have time to be bored. If one machine purrs merrily, another starts clanking fearfully, and she forgets her own woes as she gets out her tool kit to repair it.

You can bark at her or beat her, and she will never divorce you. She will reason thusly, "what, go away and let that bum bring in some other woman who will ruin all these beautiful gadgets I've given my life to! Never!"

★ DR. JORDAN SAYS ★

Great Strides Made in Brain Tumor Surgery

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

Mr. C. R. in asking for a discussion of brain tumors, wishes to know whether an operation for same is considered serious, what are the symptoms and whether brain tumors can be discovered by X-rays.

These are all important questions. The first can be answered definitely and quickly: such operations are serious.

It was not long ago that nothing could be done for a person who developed a brain tumor. In the last 50 years, however, great progress has been made in surgery of the nervous system, including the brain. Today, in many instances, highly skilled brain and nerve surgeons can remove brain tumors successfully.

NOW, THE REPLY to Mr. R.'s second question is difficult. A brain tumor may be almost anywhere inside the skull and may vary greatly in size. Consequently, the symptoms of a brain tumor are by no means always alike. They depend on just where the tumor is located, the size, its rate of growth and other factors.

Occasionally, a brain tumor may produce difficulties in swallowing. In other cases, the symtoms may involve the hearing, the eyesight, or muscular coordination in one part of the body or another. Headache is a fairly common symtom of brain tumor and so is persistent vomiting, but both may be absent.

Of course a person can have any of these symptoms from some other cause, so I would caution anyone against making a self-diagnosis.

IF A BRAIN tumor is suspected, the nervous system must be carefully examined to find out exactly where the tumor is before an operation is even thought about. Such tests include examining the muscular strength, the vision, hearing and nerve reactions.

Fluid must be removed from the spinal canal or the openings in the brain and examined. Certain chemical fluids may be injected into the canal which will show up in X-rays and thus help in locating the tumor.

Air can be injected into the spaces in the brain—this sounds rather fearsome but is not—so this, too, helps to locate the area of the tumor. In some cases, measuring the electrical waves which pass through the brain is also a help in locating the tumor.

THERE ARE several kinds of tumors as well as many locations. Some are slow growing and "benign," others swift and "malignant." In spite of all these difficulties, however, a great many tumors can be located and removed.

Today, most of the large cities and some smaller ones, can claim brain and nerve surgeons who are extremely skilled.

Matter Of FACT

The North Sea is one of the world's busiest oceans and one most difficult to navigate because tides from the north and south frequently meet, with great ensuing disturbance, especially off the Thames estuary. Until the last ice age the area was connected to the continent. The fishermen's nets frequently dredge up bones of prehistoric animals.

Thinking It Over—

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.
(Written for NEA Service)

Whenever a telephone rings there is a feeling of anticipation in the minds of most people. We do not know who is calling nor what the message is about until we pick up the receiver. If we are away from our desks or away from home a ringing telephone causes us a bit of alarm.

The telephone reaches out over many miles to make contact with people far and near. It brings people together who might otherwise have no direct contact. This little instrument conveys happiness and sorrow, love and hate, business and pleasure. It is as friendly as the voice at the other end of the wire.

When we pray we make contact with God. We partake of His love, His presence, His guidance, and His peace. We ought to be as alert to God's voice as we are to the ting-a-ling of the telephone.

New England Inn Features Excellent Cold Vichyssoise

NEW ENGLAND'S Lord Jeffery Inn at Amherst, Mass., features this "Polynesian fruit boat" made with pears, melon balls.

By GAYNOR MADDOX,
NEA Food and Markets Editor

On a hot summer day we stopped at the Lord Jeffery Inn on the edge of Amherst College, Mass., campus. In the spacious dining room, colorful with portraits of Revolutionary greats, we enjoyed the best cold Vichyssoise of our New England search.

Chef Clifford S. Bibeau, with this beautiful white brick inn under tall elm trees for more than 20 years, believes his secret is the use of both chicken and beef stock. This is his private recipe:

Cold Vichyssoise (Yield: 4 quarts)

Grind finely about 4 pounds of raw, peeled potatoes. Add 2 quarts of clear, strong chicken stock, 2 quarts of strong beef stock, ½ pound of fresh leaks, white part only; ½ pound fresh watercress.

Simmer until potatoes are tender. Then force this through a fine sieve twice, or mix in electric blender. Season with salt and pepper. Add sweet cream to taste. Chill thoroughly and serve in chilled bowls or cups. Top with finely cut chives. Remember this Vichyssoise must be served very cold.

The Lord Jeffery features distinctive fresh fruit dishes in hot weather.

Polynesian Fruit Boats

This makes 6 small fruit cups (½ pear each) or 3 main course salads. One quarter cup honey, ½ cup water, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, 3 tablespoons Tokay wine, if desired; 3 cups melon balls (watermelon and cantaloupe), 3 fresh California Bartlett pears.

Mix honey, water, lemon juice, and wine, if desired. Pour over melon balls and chill in the refrigerator several hours. Just before serving, halve and core pears. Place in cantaloupe shell with melon balls and pour juice over them.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Lord Jeffery cold Vichyssoise, broiled ham steak, hash-browned potatoes, corn-on-cob, rye rolls, butter or margarine, Polynesian fruit boats, coffee, tea, milk.

All friends of 4-H work are asked to volunteer help. Lunch will be served at the grounds daily.

It is expected that the erection of the tents and the installation of the pens and gates will be completed by Thursday afternoon.

Beginning Wednesday gate attendants are expected to call the fair grounds office for gate assignments.

The work schedule goes through Monday and Tuesday, Aug. 5-6, with "gates out, tents down and cleanup."

4-H Youngsters Busy

City $106,300 Ahead Of Budget In First Six Months Of 1957

Jacksonville is living well within its budget and even cutting off some expenses compared to last year, Alderman Mathews of the finance committee reported to the council Monday night when he submitted a six months' budget summary.

The report showed expenses of $214,593.81 were incurred during the first six months, compared to the budgeted $320,894.54. The city is $106,300.73 ahead of the budget, the report showed.

Every fund is within the limit with the exception of the election fund—this was $2,024.56 overspent during the first half of the year.

The total budget for 1957 for general corporate purposes is $641,789.10.

Mayor DuBois called upon Rev. Fines Main, pastor of the Jacksonville West parish of the Methodist church, to offer the invocation as the council entered session.

A resolution to ask permission of the Illinois Department of Public Works and Buildings to lay water and sewer mains along U.S. Highways 36-54 near the west limits of the city was adopted on motions of Aldermen Kelly and Sims.

Alderman Kelly informed the council that 15 parking meters will be needed for spaces on both sides of Dunlap Court, north of College avenue, where new business buildings have been erected. Ten meters will be installed on the west side of Dunlap Court, and five on the east side. The highway committee will investigate the price of meters.

A resolution appropriating $5,000 motor fuel tax funds for the city's share of a new storm sewer to be built on South Fayette street from Anna street to the town brook was adopted on motions by Aldermen Sims and DeFrates. Estimated cost of the project is $9,500. It was planned to eliminate a deep and dangerous ditch.

Alderman DeFrates of the health committee said he has received numerous complaints of trash and garbage being burned during evening hours. He said an ordinance prohibits burning any materials in late afternoon or night hours.

Plans for sanitation of garbage trucks at the landfill north of the city were discussed. Mayor DuBois suggested the hosing out of trucks before they return to the city. He asked the health chairman to proceed with such a plan.

Greenfield Girl Is Miss Greene County

CARROLLTON — Miss Marcia Cole, 16 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cole of Greenfield, was named Miss Greene County from a group of 11 contestants at the Greene County Agricultural Fair Friday evening. Miss Cole who is especially interested in art and music is a senior in the Greenfield Community Unit high school this year. She is also noted for her ability as an equestrienne.

Firemen Save Jerseyville Home

JERSEYVILLE — The fire department was called to the home of Robert Allen, 708 South State street at 1 a.m. Friday when a fire smouldering in a davenette in the living room threatened the residence. Apparently ashes from a cigarette had fallen down in the cushions of the furniture earlier in the evening and slowly burned the cloth. The Allens were awakened by the smoke and turned in the alarm.

Firemen reported that when they reached the place the fire was at the smoky, dormant stage, but when they moved the davenette to the outdoors, the wind whipped the fire into a flame. Outside of the burnt sofa, the damage consisted mostly of smoke in the house and a small burn in the rug.

Writing began about 6000 B.C., as a pictorial representation of events, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

HONEY OF AN IDEA

SEATTLE (AP) — City employes aren't going to have to send an SOS for a beekeeper any more when bees swarm on traffic lights —as they did at least twice last year. The city has bought two beekeeper outfits — veils, gloves, and "smoker" device. It nicked the city budget for $10.

Brooklyn Pastor And Wife Work In Church Camp

The Rev. and Mrs. Clarence S. Bigler, of Jacksonville, and Miss Clara Coe of Alexander, returned Saturday from a week at Camp Milan, south of Moline, where Rev. and Mrs. Bigler served as counselors and leaders and Miss Coe was a camper in the intermediate Junior Camp.

Rev. Bigler served as counsellor and as the song leader for the camp, which is owned and operated by the Board of Education of The Illinois Conference of The Methodist church. Mrs. Bigler was the head counsellor for some 70 girls, as well as serving as counsellor for her own cabin and as national. The Biglers also were leaders for the "quest"—a period each day in which the youth of their cabins met together to explore the meaning of the camp theme, "Becoming Persons."

Rev. Bigler has worked in camps and institutes of the church for some 15 years, having directed the program of recreation in the Northwest Indiana Conference camping program, before coming to Illinois in 1949. Mrs. Bigler also has had wide experience in church camping. In 1949 she traveled as a national, working in camps in Indiana, Illinois, Arkansas, Michigan, Ohio, and Florida. Both have worked in camps in the Indian Mission of Oklahoma, of which Mrs. Bigler is a native.

This is Miss Coe's first experience as a camper. She makes her home with Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Kumle, of Alexander. Rev. Bigler serves the Brooklyn church in Jacksonville, and the Alexander Methodist church.

Entertaining costs more than ever...

You are paying more
except your electricity!

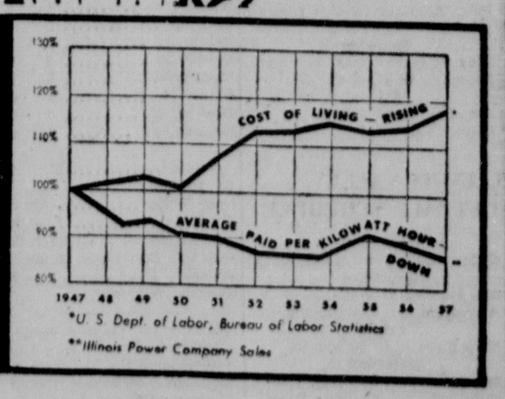

When Dad was entertaining Mom, a soda cost a lot less than it does today. In fact, everything was cheaper. However—there is one item of household expense for which you actually pay less than you did ten years ago.

You are paying about 12% less for a kilowatt hour of electricity than you did in 1947, even though there was a rate increase in 1954.

It's true that your total monthly electric bill is higher today—but most of our customers are using about twice the amount of electricity they did ten years ago. And—that's one of the reasons they pay less per kilowatt hour. We think you'll agree . . . your biggest value today is the comfort and convenience you get from electricity.

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Not even the most confirmed longshot stabber could pick Hurricane Tommy Jackson to win the heavyweight championship from Floyd Patterson at the Polo Grounds on July 29.

This despite the fact that young Patterson took nothing more than a debatable and divided 12-round decision from Nature Boy as recently as 13 months ago.

Ordinarily, on the strength of such a strong showing, a fighter other than Jackson would be given at least some semblance of a chance in a second edition. The difference here is that Patterson would have to fall from exhaustion toward the fag end of the 15 rounds, and the Brooklyn kid appears too well equipped to do anything like that.

The only excuse for the fight, outside of the display of raw savagery, is to find out how much Patterson has improved. If Floyd is now believing all the great things they are saying about him, on the heels of his knockout of old Archie Moore, he should take Jackson out along about the 10th heat.

There is a way to batter down any fighter and, if we have not seen Patterson's training moves in a distorted light, he figures to do this with a body attack.

Clubbing Jackson about the head gets you nowhere. So the Patterson who got ready at Greenwood Lake was a fast-fisted youngster who fired volley after volley to the midsection with alarming speed.

The fight at least will reveal whether Patterson is a genuine champion or just another pleasing club fighter.

There is no comparison in the combatants as far as tools of the trade are concerned.

Jackson is scorned by the intelligentsia because The Animal doesn't know how to fight at all. But prize fighting is a basic. It's a primeval test of one man against the other through round after round of throwing punches and expending energy. And is a matter of record that Jackson's Alley Oop way of doing things stirred up more than considerable trouble for Patterson in 12 rounds. If there is any advantage in the three additional stanzas this trip it is on the side of the foremost human punching bag of his time.

Jackson shouldn't be entirely dismissed as a human shock absorber, for he never stops crowding and clawing. That's the best description of the weird warrior of Queens—he's a clawer. Hit him as hard as you can and as often as you want. He may wobble a bit, but he'll right himself and come jigging back, clawing all the while.

Restful clinching is out. The Hurricane lives up to his name — tugging, mauling, backhanding and double uppercutting three full minutes a round. The longer the fight, the better it is for Jackson, and, as one sage remarked, this is the first time he has been properly routed—over 15 rounds. The ideal route for him would be a fight to a finish.

It must be remembered that Patterson did not beat Jackson way off the last time out. Also that no one ever took an easier road to the throne room than the former Olympic titleholder. He came along in a period when the talent was poorer than it has been since beak busting became big business. He is the most untried heavyweight champion in history.

Speaking of good fighters, as you know them, there won't be much fighter in front of Floyd Patterson at the Polo Grounds, but Hurricane Tommy Jackson's clawing and clubbing has proved very annoying and discouraging to others.

Mickey Mantle's Hitting Leads Yankees To 10-6 Victory Over White Sox

NEW YORK (AP)—Mickey Mantle walloped a tape-measure home run, a three run triple, a double and a single Tuesday night as New York's first place Yankees moved to a 5½-game lead with a 10-6 victory over the second place Chicago White Sox, who made a fight of it for seven innings on walks and singles.

The 4-for-5 night hoisted Mantle back into the AL bat lead with a .367 average. Boston's Ted Williams slipped to second at .360 with one hit in three trips against Kansas City.

The Yankees, blowing a 3-0 lead set up on Harry Simpson's two-run in the first and Mantle's 26th homer of the year, estimated at 465 feet into the deep right-center field bleachers in the second, leveled the Sox with only three hits in the big seventh.

Elston Howard opened the frame with a triple off Millard Howell, third of five Sox pitchers, and scored on a wild pitch. Jerry Coleman then walked and Jack Harshman relieved, only to walk pinch-hitting Enos Slaughter on four pitches. Tony Kubel walked to load the bases and Gil McDougald picked up the fourth consecutive base on balls on a 3-2 count to force across the tying run.

Mantle, whose triple capped a five-run seventh inning that junked a 6-4 Chicago lead in the opening of this crucial three-game set, became the first American Leaguer hit for the cycle since June 4, 1952, when Larry Doby, then with Cleveland, did it against Boston.

Milwaukee Braves Stagger Back For Long Home Stand

By DION HENDERSON

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves, as the faithful noted when their heroes staggered back Tuesday to open a long home stand in the friendly mists of their own valley, are slightly sub-par—patched up, that is beyond all recognition.

As a matter of fact, when the variously frayed representatives of the National League baseball club of Milwaukee arrived Tuesday morning, the welcoming throng was scarcely more than a small multitude.

One reason may have been that it was 3:30 a.m. But another might have been that the natives didn't recognize the lads they refer to in one word as "ohyou-Braves."

The only dear, familiar thing about the arrivals was their precarious grip on first place, by a single game over Brooklyn before the series with the Phils got under way Tuesday night. Milwaukee is used to being in first place, but a firm grip on the league lead would be as out of place as St. Louis beer on the peaceful banks of the Menomonee.

For Manager Fred Haney, the home stand represents what is virtually a downhill coast. He only has to accomplish the extremely unlikely. He already whipped the impossible, winning the last six of seven games on the road. Except for a quiet moment of meditation in short left field Sunday, during which a two-out ninth inning fly ball plopped in safely, Haney might have had seven straight.

And most of this without Billy Bruton, Joe Adcock, Henry Aaron, Andy Pafko, or Felix Mantilla, to name a few prominent invalids on the Braves nigh incredible injury list.

Aaron, who sprained his ankle on a drainpipe last week against these same Phils—who were in first then, instead of fifth — is about ready to get back into the outfield. He had six hits in his last seven times at bat and took a .352 average to the sick bay with him.

Mantilla, whose collision with Bruton put the regular centerfielder on the 30-day disabled list, has been working out gingerly the last couple of days.

But the home stand still may see such things as captain and catcher Del Crandall playing the outfield, or even first base again.

After all, the road trip did, and who can argue against first place?

Tigers Stop Orioles 5-2

BALTIMORE (AP)—Southpaw Billy Hoeft stopped the Baltimore Orioles on seven hits Tuesday as the Detroit Tigers won 5-2 and moved two games ahead of Baltimore in the battle for fifth place in the American League.

Hoeft needed relief from Harry Byrd for the final out as Baltimore threatened in the ninth inning.

PITTSFIELD

PITTSFIELD — Miss Annetta Kesterson of Pittsfield, teacher in the Martinsburg school, south of here last year, has accepted a position in a school near Morrison, Ill., for the 1957-58 school term. The Martinsburg school has been discontinued in the consolidation program of District No. 10.

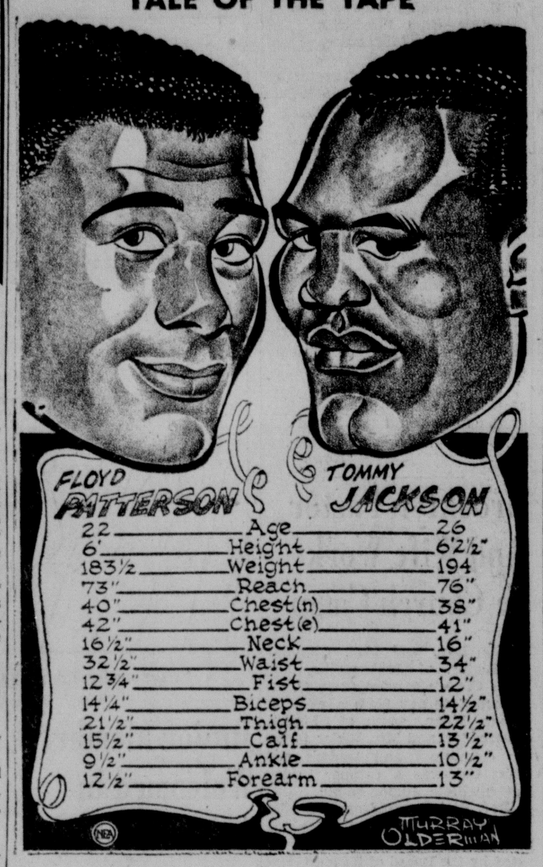

The committee on nominations to elect eleven directors at the Illinois Rural Electric annual meeting to be held in Winchester July 30th, has named four Pike County men for the position, Walter Strubinger of El Dara; V. T. Parks, Pearl; Robie Wallace, New Canton, and R. J. Myers, Griggsville. An outstanding program has been planned for the meeting.

Farmers of the area report that the past hot, dry week has helped a great deal with their farm work and crops. The wheat harvest has been finished with approximately 50% of the average crop. Most of the oat crop has been harvested. The corn crop is doing well with the hot days and hot nights, with some fields tasselling, and is in about the usual stage for the time of the year. The weather has been almost perfect for haying with most of the second crop of alfalfa put up, and soybean fields are growing normally.

Consolo's Single Gives Boston 1-0 Victory Over A's

BOSTON (AP) — Billy Consolo singled home the game's only run as Boston edged Kansas City 1-0 Tuesday behind the 10-hit pitching of Frank Sullivan.

Outhit 10-8 the Red Sox needed an error by the A's to help them push across their unearned tally.

Jackie Jensen singled with one out in the fourth inning. Norm Zauchin followed with what appeared to be a cinch double play ball at Joe DeMaestri but the shortstop threw into right field.

On the play Jensen moved to third from where he scored on Consolo's single.

Chisox Purchase Centerfielder

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The Chicago White Sox purchased centerfielder Ted Beard from Indianapolis of the American Assn. Tuesday and ordered him to report to Yankee Stadium immediately to join the club in its series with league leading New York.

The 36-year-old Beard was batting .342 for the Indians. His hits included 19 doubles, 12 triples and 10 home runs.

This is Beard's second shot at the majors. His first was with the Pittsburgh Pirates several years ago.

DON'T CATCH COLD, BOYS

NEW YORK, (AP) — The New York Yankees returned home to some surprise improvements at Yankee Stadium Tuesday—an air conditioned dugout and canopy-covered bullpens.

A curtain of cold air, barring warm air, is forced across the face of the Yankee dugout through ducts, similar to the system used at Crosley Field in Cincinnati. The visitor's dugout at stadium is not air conditioned.

ASHLAND

ASHLAND — Several senior members of the Ashland Church of Christ were honored in a special Centennial day service Sunday morning at the Bible school hour. Those who had been members of the church for more than 40 years were recognized with a special recognition.

Rev. Jamie Morgan spoke on the subject "The Next 100 Years" at the morning worship hour, and special music was furnished by the girls trio consisting of Lynell Field, Donna Douglas and Joyce Way.

The Agricultural 4-H members and their parents held a family picnic Sunday at Camp Western on Lake Jacksonville. The group swam from 4:30 to 5:30, after which a picnic supper was enjoyed.

The U. S. Army has some people short on names. At Ft. Carson, Colo., there is a Private Ging Fay Ng. There is a Private Jerry Ex in the Army Audit Agency in Paris. There is a Corp. Jim Ek, a machine gunner with the 10th Inf. Div. in Germany. And there is a Sgt. Rose Re, a WAC at Fort Dix, N. J.

GOLDEN "SAND PILE"—Rose Mary Martin, 4, plays in a wheat truck and watches another load of grain shower down from the combine. Rose Mary doesn't know it, but her imitation "sand pile" is worth hundreds of dollars to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Martin, who farm near Salina, Kan.

Sports Trail

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK (AP)—Rocky Marciano of Brockton, Mass., is helping train Pete Rademacher of Grandview, Wash., at Columbus, Ga., for a heavyweight championship fight with Floyd Patterson at Seattle.

This geographical jig-saw puzzle could be the brain child of Jack Hurley, the promoter who probably would not object too strenuously if the folks in Georgia and New England took more than a casual interest in the bout.

Anyway, the prospect of Marciano helping the Olympic champion in his training is intriguing, as the ingredients which made Rocky an unbeaten champion are inborn, and cannot be taught, or learned.

Marciano picked up some right polish from little Charley Goldman. It was particularly evident in his training camps where Charley could lean on a corner rope and chant instructions, but once Rocky got in a ring for a real fight the polish became rather dulled, and he reverted to a native style all his own.

That style consister of coming out of his corner bobbing and weaving and throwing punches from everywhere and taking punches that might come in his direction with stoic fortitude.

The dogged determination, the ability to deliver ponderous punches incessantly, and the stamina to take blows that would fell a horse and still keep coming were Marciano's chief ring assets, and they more than made up for any shortage of boxing ability and slick maneuvering.

The bout is scheduled Aug. 22, but there are few ifs and ands and buts to be considered. In the first place, Patterson must get by Hurricane Jackson next Monday night at the Polo Grounds.

If he fails to do this, all Hurley's labors will have been in vain. Jackson would be the new champion, and his first title defense would undoubtedly be in a return bout with the man from whom he won the crown.

Lopez Says His Chisox Won't Fold In Stretch

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Al Lopez, manager of the second place Chicago White Sox, promised Tuesday his club will not follow in the footsteps of its predecessors and fold in the stretch.

In town for a vital three-game series with the league-leading New York Yankees, Lopez expressed pleasure with the way his White Sox have been clinging to the coat tails of the defending champions and said his athletes were physically and mentally ready to make the big push for the American League pennant.

"We've still got a chance," he said, "a good chance. The fellows are confident they can catch the Yankees and so am I. They convinced me by the way they've bounced back every time we've been counted out. I don't say we're going to battle the Yankees right down to the wire."

Four and a half games down, the White Sox will still be a game and a half behind even if they sweep the three-game set. But Lopez has taken heart from the way his club has hung in there despite a Yankee hot streak that produced 18 victories in 21 games up to the All-Star game.

Fully aware of the White Sox reputation of folding in the stretch Lopez promised his club would not wilt this time.

"The White Sox bogged down in the late months in recent years only because of weariness," he said. "No other reason. Mindful of that I made sure the boys were not overworked during spring training. I used such fellows as Sherman Lollar, Larry Doby, Luis Aparicio, Jim Rivera and one or two others quite sparingly during the exhibition games. I made sure that some of the fellows got sufficient rest even during the regular season. I believe it paid off because none of the boys have complained of being tired."

Podres Pitches Five Hitter As Dodgers Edge Cardinals 1-0

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Brooklyn's Johnny Podres shutout the St. Louis Cardinals with a masterful five-hitter Tuesday night, 1-0, besting Sam (Toothpick) Jones, who gave the Dodgers just three hits.

Podres never before had pitched a complete game at St. Louis, in seven previous tries spread over four seasons. In reversing his luck, for his eighth triumph against three defeats, he allowed only one runner to reach third.

The Dodgers scored their run in the second inning, the one less-than-neat frame Redbird loser Sad Sam Jones experienced.

The Dodgers kept their midsummer pennant drive going. It was their 11th victory in 13 games and kept them a game behind first place Milwaukee.

Hank Aaron NL's Leader In RBI's, Batting, Homers

NEW YORK (AP)—Hank Aaron of the Milwaukee Braves is National League leader in batting, home runs and runs batted in.

He also—according to a system devised by the Associated Press—is the majors' best clutch hitter. Tabulations of all game-winning blows are maintained by the AP and the latest figures show that Aaron is the leader with seven of three.

Credit for a game-winning blow is given each player who puts his club ahead to stay in the sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth or an extra inning. Only contributions for which a player receives credit for a run or runs batted in count. A steal of home does not count.

Close behind Aaron in the clutch department are Don Hoak of Cincinnati and Bill Skowron of the New York Yankees. Hoak has produced six game-winners while Skowron tops the American League with five.

Aaron's key blows have come against Philadelphia and Pittsburgh twice each and Brooklyn, New York and Cincinnati once each. Three of them were homers, one a triple, two were singles and one was a sacrifice fly.

The records include Sunday's games.

The game-winning blows system was devised by the Associated Press' baseball statistical bureau last season.

Cubs' Dick Drott Fans 14 Giants For 4-0 Truimph

CHICAGO (AP) — Rookie Dick Drott mowed down the New York Giants with 14 strikeouts Tuesday and yielded only four hits in pitching the Chicago Cubs to a 4-0 triumph.

The strapping righthander, recently turned 21, boosted his strikeout mark for the season to 112 and his won-lost record to 9-8. It was his third shutout.

The former Cincinnati high school star nearly matched his 15 strikeouts of last May 26 when he hurled the Cubs to a 7-5 victory over the Milwaukee Braves. The 15 stands as the major league high so far this season, and was only two shy of Dizzy Dean's National League record set in 1933.

The Cubs backed Drott with eight hits off an assortment of four Giant pitchers. They bunched four of them for three runs in the fourth inning that sent Ray Monzant, making his first start, to the showers. Walt Moryn's two-run double keyed the big inning in which Bob Speake, Ernie Banks and Lee Walls contributed singles.

Speake added the fourth run with a homer in the fifth.

Buhl Allows Two Hits To Give League Leading Milwaukee 1-0 Victory

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The league-leading Milwaukee Braves beat Philadelphia, 1-0, Tuesday night as Bobby Buhl hurled a two-hitter and took his fourth triumph in a row over the Phillies, who now have lost seven of their last eight games.

Buhl allowed only one batter to get as far as second base. Stan Lopata, getting one of the four walks off Buhl, went to second base in the fourth inning when Harry Anderson beat out a slow bounder with two men out. Rip Repulski grounded out to end the threat.

The only other hit off Buhl was a single by Ed Bouchee in the sixth inning.

The Phillies lost a couple of hits when Red Schoendienst made a spectacular stop behind first base on a drive by Ed Bouchee in the fourth and in the ninth when Wes Covington made a diving shoestring catch of a line drive by Solly Hemus.

GRAIN FUTURES EASE UNDER LIQUIDATION, HEDGE SELLING

By EARL AYKROID

CHICAGO, (AP) — Grain futures eased on the Board of Trade Tuesday, influenced by liquidation and hedge selling.

Extreme losses of more than two cents in wheat and corn and more than three cents in soybeans at the day's lows were partly recovered in late dealings.

New style wheat closed ⅝ to 1⅜ lower, corn ⅝ to 1¼ lower, oats ¼ to ½ lower, rye unchanged to ½ lower, soybeans 1 to 1¾ lower and lard 12 to 20 cents a hundred pounds lower.

Favorable weather and crop news together with lack of export sales tended to weaken all grains and soybeans. Another factor in the downturn of corn prices was the desire on the part of producers to market old crop corn in order to make room for new crop wheat. This brought selling into corn futures.

Wheat was weak during most of the session and the downturn led to scattered stop - loss selling. Some support entered the market toward the end of the session and wheat recovered somewhat from the day's lowest levels.

Combining of winter wheat was reported completed in Texas and and Iowa. Iowa reported yields and quality are good.

The winter wheat harvest in eastern Nebraska also was reported nearly completed while in Indiana less than 10 per cent of of the winter crop remains to be combined.

First delivery notices of July soybean contracts were posted on the Board of Trade Tuesday and totaled 605,000 bushels.

POTATO MARKET

CHICAGO (AP) — (USDA) — Potatoes arrivals 59; track 295; shipment 305; supplies moderate; demand fair; market for long whites slightly stronger, for round reds dull; California long whites 3.90-4.10; round reds 3.50.

Closing date for entries in Morgan County Jr. Fair is July 24.

New York Bond Market

NEW YORK, (AP) — Corporate bonds were slightly lower at the close Tuesday in light trading. Rails and investment quality issues lost ground and industrials moved ahead fractionally. Utilities were firm.

U. S. government bonds firmed after nearly a week of slight but steady declines. There were rumors in Wall Street that the federal reserve was bolstering the market through purchases of bills and intermediates.

Corporate trading volume slipped to $3,050,000 par value on the Big Board from $3,080,000 Monday.

Convertibles were mixed in sympathy with the irregular pattern of their stock counterparts.

New York Stock Market

By ED MORSE

NEW YORK, (AP) — The stock market slipped further into the doldrums Tuesday with prices mixed on the lightest turnover since June 27.

Volume dwindled to 1,840,000 shares compared with 1,950,000 Monday.

The price movements of leading stocks were narrow, kept generally within $1 or so.

The market was irregular at the start and remained that way throughout the session although there was trend toward improvement in late dealings among pivotal issues. This put the averages on the upside, but for all of the stocks traded Tuesday there was a preponderance of losers.

Wall Street analysts continued to see the market in a period of correction following its rise close to the all-time highs last week.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 50 cents to $187.10 with the industrials up 50 cents, the rails up 90 cents and the utilities up 20 cents.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange. Volume totaled 840,000 shares compared with 820,000 Monday.

HANDYMAN

SAN DIEGO (AP)—A note left for the milkman by Mrs. Zelma Locker asked him to be sure and close the gate because the latch needed repair. He replied by note: "Leave me a screw driver and I'll fix it for you."

TAILING ALONG—Five steers, being trucked through Detroit, escaped from the vehicle when it stopped on a downtown street. After their escape, the steers had themselves a time. They roamed the streets, causing motorists to jam on their brakes and pedestrians to seek refuge in doorways. This steer, a 700-pounder, was chased by city worker Louis Witherspoon, who hung on to the animal's tail until three police cars arrived to give him a hand.

Crop Conditions Very Little Short Of Average

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Despite damage to many Illinois fields from heavy rains during the last 10 days, the statewide condition of corn and soybeans showed little or no change, the State-Federal Agriculture departments reported Tuesday.

In their crop bulletin for the week ended July 22, the departments said corn averaged about 4½ feet high, compared with 6 feet a year ago and the five-year average of nearly 5½.

Thirty-five per cent of the bean fields have started to bloom, less than half the percentage of fields in bloom at this time last year. Average for the date is about 55 per cent.

Wheat combining is virtually complete, at about the usual date and harvest of oats has advanced northward into the topmost tier of counties. Oat yields have been disappointing in much of southern and central Illinois. Forage crops were reported in excellent condition.

Of those correspondents reporting on soil moisture 16 per cent reported a shortage, 62 per cent ample and 22 per cent surplus.

SAC Bandmaster Earns Pakistani Minister's Smile

OMAHA, (AP) — In the life of a military bandmaster, a smile sometimes is as rewarding as a medal.

So it was when Pakistani Prime Minister Huseyn Shaheed Suhrawardy, standing in the midst of rigid, saluting military men, permitted a little smile of pleasure to creep across his face.

It was prompted by the playing of Pakistan's national anthem during Suhrawardy's visit to Strategic Air Command headquarters Monday.

An aide to the Prime Minister beamed at the music strange to Western ear and remarked to Lt. Ernest Greer, supervisor of SAC bands: "They played it well."

Greer sighed.

A week ago he had learned there would be a full-dress reception for the visitor and then consulted his catalog of national anthems. Pakistan's was conspicuously absent.

The Pentagon? No luck.

Finally an SOS to the Pakistani Embassy in Washington turned up the only arrangement in the United States, sent especially for Suhrawardy's visit.

Like many pieces from remote lands, Lt. Greer discovered, it failed to indicate the tempo.

"We decided the music lent itself to speed. We took a chance and played it that way."

It worked.

MALE STRONGHOLD SHAKEN

ST. LOUIS (AP)—One of St. Louis' last male strongholds has been shaken but it stood firm.

The Merchant's Exchange decided in an election Monday to stand by its 121-year-old tradition of permitting no women on the floor.

The election was called because a local brewery wanted to have a membership assigned to one of its grain buyers, Miss Ruth Moegle.

She almost breached the line. There were 54 votes in favor of admitting women and only 34 against, but this was short of the necessary two-third majority.

HICCOUGHS WORSE AFTER 'SPIRITUAL HEALING' SESSION

DURBAN, South Africa, (AP) — Maureen Morton, 18, seeking a cure for hiccoughs, took a turn for the worse Tuesday after seeing a "spiritual healer." Now she is hiccoughing 1,440 times an hour.

Maureen has been hiccoughing for six months. Monday night after seeing Albert Burne, who claims spiritual contact with an eminent Egyptian of 2,500 years ago, she stopped for two hours. Then the hiccoughs returned.

Interpreting The News

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

Secretary of State Dulles made a big assumption when he said the United States is ready to open up its entire territory to Russian aerial inspection.

The administration may be ready, but in the country and in Congress there are still grave and widespread doubts.

This extends not only to inspection, but to the whole disarmament offer as it appears against the background of continued enmity between Russia and the free world.

Dulles was aiming to allay this doubt in his address to the nation Monday night, and certainly it was one of his better efforts.

The public has been fed American disarmament policy in such piecemeal form that it was not even understood, much less approved. Dulles pulled it together so that it could be seen as a whole.

Dulles has stolen a march on the remainder of Harold Stassen's report to the London conference, by making public the extent to which the administration is willing to submit the North American continent to inspection if Russia will reciprocate.

Congressional agreement may be as hard to get as Russian.

So far, Russia has suggested inspection for Siberia and western United States, although both sides have considered that this could begin in the arctic and gradually be expanded, with the development of mutual confidence, to the rest of the two continents.

Dulles admits that, though every care will be taken to see that no disarmament agreement contains a threat to the safety of the United States, human fallibility remains a part of the equation.

A statement which opponents of disarmament now must consider however, is that the development of nuclear weapons is progressing toward the point where controls will become impossible. Dulles warns of the time when some small and irresponsible dictator may be able to use them.

In addition to explaining disarmament policy to the American public, Dulles also shot away at least part of Russia's pose as the chief seeker of disarmament. He called on her to really get down to business.

ment," he told newsmen.

Others Convicted

Convicted along with Kasper, accused by the government of fomenting racial strife at Clinton last fall when 12 Negroes were admitted to the previously all-white high school there, were:

Lawrence J. Brantley, 50, Clinton car dealer.

William J. Brakebill, 41, Clinton service station operator.

Alonzo Bullock, 52, part-time preacher and Clinton carpenter.

Clyde Cook, 26, Oak Ridge, Tenn., fireman.

Mrs. Mary Nell Currier, 39, Clinton housewife and mother of two children.

Williard H. Till, 43, Oak Ridge machinest.

20 Days To File

The judge told defense laywers he would give them 20 days to file their motion for a new trial if it is within his discretion to extend the time for filing appeals. He said he had been advised by the court clerk that five days is the maximum.

Specifically, Kasper and the others were charged with criminal contempt of court. The government accused them of knowingly violating a court order forbidding interference with orderly integration of Clinton High.

The four defendants acquitted were:

Clifford Carter, 38, jobless truck driver; Edward Henson Nelson, 22, grocery clerk; Virgil Cleo Nelson, 23, carpenter; and Raymond Wood, 35, Clinton house painter.

Originally, 18 Clinton residents and Kasper were charged with conspiring to violate U. S. Dist. Judge Robert L. Taylor's injunction barring interference with the court-ordered racial integration of Clinton High. Clinton is 20 miles northwest of Knoxville.

Bomber Carrying Ten Explodes, Crashes In Pacific

HONOLULU (AP) — A Navy patrol bomber carrying 10 men exploded in the air Tuesday immediately after takeoff and crashed in the Pacific 300 yards off Barbers Point Naval Air Station.

The Navy said there was no sign of any survivors, but crash boats and helicopters were searching the area.

Divers checked the wreckage in shoal water only 20 feet deep.

A tower man at Barber's Point, who saw the crash, said the plane seemed to explode before hitting the water off the air station's runway.

Crash boats, helicopters and destroyers searched the area.

6-Year Picket Line Disappears In Murphysboro

MURPHYSBORO, Ill. (AP) — A six-year picket line disappeared here Monday.

The line at J. C. Penney Co., Inc. was established in May 1951. Retail Clerks Local 1595, which had kept the line, offered no comment today.

The office of Director Ralph Kennedy of the National Labor Relations Board at St. Louis said a formal complaint had been issued against Local 1592. He said the complaint charged "coercion of employes of the J. C. Penney store by continuation of the picket line."

In an NLRB-conducted election in January, store employes unanimously opposed affiliation with Local 1595.

British Jets Ready To Blast Oman Rebels

Some 1,500 rebels have seized control of 5,000 square miles of the Sultan's 82,000 square - mile kingdom of hot sand and mountains.

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd told the House of Commons the dropping of leaflets was the only action taken so far by the Royal Air Force apart from "action against certain forts in the area held by dissident tribesmen." He did not describe the type of "action."

Lloyd pledged "full support" for the Sultan of the tiny Arabian peninsula state with which Britain has had treaty relations since 1839.

He declared the government was taking steps to cut off the rebels' supply of arms coming from the "outside." He refused to say where he thought these arms were coming from—but left the impression he meant Saudi Arabia.

Moscow radio accused Britain of moving troops against the Oman rebels with the intention of "drowning the uprising of the Arab tribes in blood." The broadcast described the revolt as "a war for national liberation."

The possibility that troops would be sent has raised fears among British Laborites that Britain would be entangled in another Suez adventure such as that which ended disastrously in Egypt.

Find Woman's Body In River; To Quiz Husband

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Jefferson county authorities said today they will question the husband of a woman whose nude body was found in a Meramec River slough Saturday.

The woman was identified by police recorded fingerprints Monday night as Mrs. Madge Martha Kuehne, 52, formerly of St. Louis.

The identification was made from fingerprints taken from Mrs. Kuehne when she was picked up for questioning in a burglary and forgery case in 1955. She was released for lack of evidence.

An autopsy indicated that she died from drowning. But Sheriff Leo Church said he is convinced that the woman was knocked unconscious and thrown into the river. He said bruises and scratches on her head and body bore out a theory of foul play.

LOTS OF LUCK

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (AP) — During school recess, 11-year-old Paul Mooradian found one six-leaf clover, six five-leaved and nine four-leaf clovers in the school yard.

The word "hillbilly" is colloquial and means a backswoodsman or mountaineer of the South.

STAMPEDE AT BLUE SPRINGS

BY GENE OLSON

THE STORY: In an effort to learn where Pete Dorsey is held prisoner by the Clement brothers, who are believed to be planning to kill him, Pike Ambrose takes Marshal Harney Blanchard to see the widow of Barney Jethroe. Barney died as a result of Pete's cowardice some years ago and the Clements, friends of Jethroe, seek to punish Pete.

WHEN we reached the livery, Blanchard stopped. "We ought to get out of town a while, Pike. Need a couple of horses."

"Sure. I own a couple."

"Good. Let's saddle up."

"Well . . . one's a mule. But I'll ride him."

Blanchard grinned. "Good man. He might throw me."

Out in the daylight my mounts didn't look so good. Pilot was shaggy and lop-eared no matter how much I did to smooth him out. Goliath was a mule and nothing but. But Pilot had plenty of bottom and I knew he'd been a real corker. Blanchard didn't say anything when I came out with Pilot. He didn't even grin, like he was making fun in his mind. He just rubbed Pilot's nose and felt of the bit and then stepped up into the saddle as quick and smooth and easy as if he had an express pony under him.

"Thought we might look up the Clements, Pike."

I made sure I'd heard right and then I climbed down and started back into the barn.

Blanchard said, "Where you headed?"

"Get my Springfield."

"No need. I don't plan to throw down on them."

"Well . . . all right." I climbed back into the saddle. In gun trouble, I wouldn't be much help with that clumsy old rifle, anyway. "You want to see their layout?"

"Let's go."

We headed out of town on the wagon road. Starting onto the river slope I saw the ferry at the near bank waiting for customers. I wondered if we hadn't ought to use the ford instead. I didn't have much time for the ferryman, Nev Hawk, and I didn't want to listen to any remarks from him about my mule. Hawk had run the ferry as long as I could remember. It was the best business in Blue Springs. He got four bits for every rider that crossed and a dollar for a wagon. In the buffalo season when the Clements' hide wagons were rolling, Hawk made plenty of money. Downstream a quarter mile from the ferry was Rocky Ford, treacherous in the spring. Year around you had to be careful. More than one good horse had broke a leg on the rocks there. You could take a light wagon across but you stood a good chance of breaking a wheel.

I said, "We could cross at the ford. Ferry costs four bits."

I DIDN'T want Blanchard to think I was afraid of Hawk so I didn't say any more. We rode onto the landing and onto the ferry, our mounts stepping light-footed but loud on the planks. Hawk moved toward us and Blanchard flipped him a dollar, then climbed down. Hawk was a big man with a thick black set of whiskers. He wore the only sea captain's cap in Nebraska and is was about to rot off his head.

Blanchard said, "Last night, after the train, was there a bunch of riders that used your ferry?"

"Always riders on my ferry."

"No special bunch last night?"

Hawk shook his head. Then he went into the shack and pushed a lever. The wheel slowed up, then stopped. The barge bumped hard into the south landing. We mounted and rode off.

The Clements' hide camp was out by the river close to Buffalo Basin. I figured that if Blanchard wanted the Clements, that's where he'd find them, getting their wagons and hunting gear ready for the season. They had two little cabins and a bunkhouse by a grove of cottonwoods. They lived there just during the season. Spring and summer they spent in town, living between the Prairie Haven and Carey's Saloon.

"They say the Clement boys get mad mighty easy," I said. "Dan, especially."

"Then I'll step light. No trouble this trip, if it's my say. They're probably a mite confused this morning. Until they make up their minds, they won't be ready for trouble."

IT made sense, as far as it went. If getting inside of rifle distance of the Clements ever made sense. I'd have to trust Blanchard. Even trusting him, though, I could feel my stomach drawing up a little more with every stride Goliath took. The road reached out across the prairie almost straight until it split off just outside The Narrows. The south fork went off 50 miles to the county seat. The other fork followed the river through The Narrows into Buffalo Basin.

I saw to the east the tall grass around the big slough and an old windmill and what was left of a straw and pole barn. There'd been a soddy there once. I thought about the folks who'd tried to scratch that farm out of buffalo grass. You could find a hundred more dead places like it around Blue Springs. Some folks were driven out by cattlemen, others got tired of fighting drought and blizzard, other decided there would never be a way to get crops to market, even if they could get crops. A quarter mile from here the Clements lived.

I could see the yard with the wagons strung around and the men, 50 or so, horsing wheels around, lugging harness, sitting on boxes in the shade, honing skinning knives.

"You wanted Clements," I said. "This is where they ought to be."

Council OK's Water Contract For Kordite; To Install New Pump

A contract with Kordite Division of Textron, Inc., to furnish water for its new manufacturing plant here, and for installation of a 1350 per minute gallon pump at the Naples end of the Illinois river pipe line, was approved by the city council Monday night.

Under terms of the contract the cost of the new pump and auxiliary equipment will be paid by the Kordite company, being amortorized over a 10 year period.

Later in the meeting the council voted to purchase a Byron Jackson deep well pump from M. P. Schneller & Associates of Aurora, Ill., at a cost of $8,560, on motions by Aldermen Souza and Belzer.

After a motion by Alderman Rowe, seconded by Alderman Scott, the council then voted to advertise for bids for installation of the equipment at the Naples pumping plant, to be received and opened at 7:30 p.m. Aug. 5 at the city hall.

Presentation of the water contract with the Kordite factory by Alderman Rowe of the water committee followed several months of study and negotiation. The Kordine Division of Textron, Inc., which began operations early this year in the former Nesco building on East Superior avenue, is the city's newest major industry.

Contract For Five Years

The contract for furnishing water covers a five year period, and the amortization plan for payment of the pump is based on a 10 year period. City attorney Thomson read the resolution for approval of the agreement.

The industrial concern will pay $848.72 each month for use of approximately 1,000 gallons of water hourly, in cooling materials which are made at the plastics plant. About 99% of the water is returned to Lake Mauvaisterre after passing through coils at the factory. The monthly payment also includes installments on cost of the new pump.

After the water committee began considering a contract with the company, it was decided to use a pump smaller than the ones which were installed several years ago to supply the city, when it drew its supply from the river during the drought.

A contract with Paul Rhoads for engineering services in connection with the proposed installations at Naples was authorized on motions by Aldermen Souza and Johnson. The contract is based on a scale approved by the Illinois Society of Professional Engineers.

Exchange $250,000 Securities

Continuing business associated with the water department, the council voted exchange of $250,000 securities in the water reserve surplus account which are nearing maturity, and which will be traded for four per cent certificates of indebtedness, bearing a higher interest rate. The motions to transfer the securities were made by Aldermen Johnson and Fitzsimmons. The securities are held by the Mercantile Trust Co., of St. Louis.

The water committee chairman reported that Paul Rhoads, engineer, has made an inspection of the Lake Jacksonville spillway at request of W. O. Randall, superintendent of utilities. Some repair work on the spillway is believed to be needed.

Rowe said the utilities superintendent is preparing to make an allout effort to collect delinquent accounts, and that plans have been completed for old accounts in 1955 and 1956.

Mayor Wants Meters Checked

Mayor DuBois in discussing activities of the water department said he favors the adoption of an organized meter checking program. On motion of Alderman Belzer, seconded by Alderman DeFrates, it was voted to launch a meter-checking program to include all water consumers.

A relic of the seven year drought which began in 1950, in the form of a water conservation ordinance related to air conditioning and refrigeration equipment, is marked for the museum of antiquated statutes. An ordinance to repeal the statute was introduced by Alderman Sheerin, and after seconding by Alderman Goodey, received first reading.

The ordinance repeals the entire ordinance adopted during the drought emergency several years ago, when certain types of air conditioning and refrigerating equipment were sapping the depleted water supply.

Asks Damages For Car

The council received and read a communication from Granville Evans, whose car was damaged when it struck an object in an alley between East State street and East College avenue, south of the Illinois Braille and Sight Saving school. Evans claimed that the city should pay a bill of $108 for damages. Mayor DuBois referred the matter to the street and judiciary committees for investigation and report.

A communication from the Illinois Department of Public Health was read, approving plans which had been submitted by Maurice Walsh and William Hawks for the Gold Coast Mobile Homes Trailer Park on North Sandusky street near Walnut street. The trailer park will have a capacity of 53 trailer spaces.

Tells Of Line Construction

A letter from C. E. Senn, service area manager of the Illinois Power Company, explained construction of a new high line on South Main street and East Superior avenue. Senn said he was writing the letter after he learned that some of the council had expressed opinion that the work was being done without council approval.

He said the work involves the rebuilding of a 3400 KV line and is not a relocated or new line. The company manager said he desires to work entirely with city approval in projects of this kind.

Mayor DuBois said the power company should obtain approval for construction projects before beginning operations.

Alderman Scott reported that a new roof is being laid on the city hall and "it looks nice."

A report of Chief of Police Ike Flynn showed 36 arrests in June, of which 27 were state cases and seven were city cases. Fines amounted to $369.

City Treasurer Ilma B. Cline submitted a report showing a balance of $27,673.49 in the general fund.

Miller of the Mathematics department of Illinois College has been invited to serve as a representative to the Steering Committee of the Illinois Curriculum Program for a term of four years. This invitation was received from Vernon L. Nickell, state superintendent of public instruction. The steering committee is engaged in a statewide cooperative program for curriculum improvement in the liberal arts.

Burial Mixup Costs $85 More Than Real Thing

CHICAGO (AP)—Dan Gallagher will get his grave back Wednesday after a burial mixup that cost the family $85 more than the real thing.

A man's body was found in a North Side elevated railroad culvert July 10 and friends and relatives identified the deceased as Dan. A sister, Mrs. Mary Mellon, 55, corroborated the identification after viewing the man's right foot. Dan's right foot was crippled when he was a year old.

The body was buried in the family plot in St. Joseph Cemetery July 12, the funeral costing Dan's relatives $400. However, $108 was found in the man's pockets was applied to the cost.

Then to everyone's amazement, Dan turned up very much alive six days later. The 52-year-old man had been serving a 17-day jail sentence for drunkenness.

So Wednesday the body will be exhumed for identification and the family will stand the $85 exhumation costs. The family also owes the county the $108 found in the dead man's pockets.

If the unknown man is not identified, the $108 will go toward his burial, said Coroner Walter McCarron.

When McCarron asked the family to aid in identifying the man after exhumation, Dan commented: "I don't care if I never see the body. As long as I can see my own I'll be satisfied."

Will Return Two To Ohio For Trial On Murder Charge

LACON, Ill. (AP) — Two men charged with first degree murder in the fatal shooting of an Amish farmer near Mount Hope, Ohio, last Wednesday waived extradition and agreed Tuesday night to return to Ohio for trial.

The two, Michael G. Dumoulin, 20 of Wooster, Ohio, and Cleo Eugene Peters, 19, of Muscatine, Iowa, were questioned more than four hours Tuesday night by Sheriff John Evans, of Marshall County, Ill.; Sheriff Harry Weiss, of Holmes County, Ohio, and State's Atty. O. B. Pace Jr., of Marshall County.

Weiss said the two "made a statement" regarding the fatal shooting of Amish farmer Paul M. Coblentz, 25, at his home near Mount Hope, Ohio. But Weiss said no details of that statement would be made public at this time.

Weiss told newsmen the two suspects will be returned to Millersburg, Ohio, Wednesday.

"The rifle allegedly used in the crime in Ohio was recovered by Sheriff Evans in the Illinois River swamp and has been turned over to the Ohio sheriff," Weiss said.

Coblentz was shot to death when he tried to protect his wife and 1½ year old child, both of whom were beaten.

Blames Detention In Indonesia On Red Chinese Agent

KARACHI, (Wednesday) (AP)—Lucien Zamorsky of Moline, Ill., an American scholar, Tuesday blamed his two-month detention in Indonesia on "a Red Chinese agent and some pro-communist officials in Indonesia."

Arriving by plane from Jakarta, the young Ford Foundation scholar gave his account of the incident for the first time.

"They charged me orally, of course, with receiving messages from unknown persons through a secret transmitter, carrying guns and supplying rebels, and keeping in contact with submarines," Zamorsky told reporters.

He said he challenged the military officers who detained him to try him in open court.

"I challenged them because I knew they were false, baseless and meant to malign Americans," he said.

Zamorsky went to Indonesia three years ago as a Ford Foundation linguistic research scholar. His wife is in Moline, his father in Chicago.

He said he was arrested by military police May 18 on the Island of Halmahera. When he asked military officials the reason for his arrest they said they did not know.

He said he was kept under strict guard by five armed soldiers at night and four during the day time.

Zamorsky said that during his detention he was asked about "certain documents which would have committed me to things which I was not responsible for."

Zamorsky declined to sign any statement or document without permission of the U. S. ambassador.

Seek To Force Firms Pay Taxes Taken From Wages

WASHINGTON, (AP)— The House Ways and Means Committe acted Tuesday to strengthen the government's hand in forcing unscrupulous or careless business firms to pay up federal taxes withheld from employes' pay checks and other sources.

A Treasury spokesman said about 300 million dollars in withheld taxes—mostly social security and income tax withholdings—currently is overdue from businessmen who have dissipated the money or used it for themselves.

Also involved are collections of admission, transportation and communications taxes. Retailers sales taxes are excluded.

At administration urging, the House committee approved a bill making businessmen automatically liable to a year in jail and $5,000 fine upon failure to make tax withholdings available to the government upon notice.

The Treasury spokesman said new teeth are needed in the law to catch "fly by night operators" who use federal tax withholdings for business working capital or for operation of their business.

Under present law, the government must prove wilful intent to delay or escape payment.

The Treasury has found it difficult to deal with delinquent taxpayers because the courts have held that money used in the operation of a business is not, of itself, a wilful failure to pay up tax obligations.

Under the proposed revision of the law, the government will not be required to prove wilfulness in its legal sense.

COSTS LESS TO FLY 'COPTERS THAN PLANE

WASHINGTON, (AP)—It costs $348 an hour to fly President Eisenhower's four-engine plane, Columbine III—more than 10 times the cost of operating the four smaller aircraft at his disposal.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty gave the figures Tuesday at the request of a reporter.

Hagerty said it costs $33 an hour to fly each of the helicopters recently acquired for White House use and $30 to $35 an hour for two twin-engine Aero Commanders.

These figures, Hagerty said, cover fuel, oil and maintenance but do not include the salaries of the Air Force personnel involved.

Building Permit Law Will Be Liberalized, Says Repaving Lags

Amendment of the zoning ordinance liberalizing the requirements for building permits was voted by the city council Monday night after it received a report of the Jacksonville Plan Commission, which favored this action. The vote to amend Section 1, Article 17, of Ordinance 600 was taken after motions by Aldermen Mathews and Sheerin, for first reading.

Requirement of building permits for routine and customary repairs and for minor but customary alterations to a building, such as closet partitions, installing screens, storm windows and doors, was eliminated in the amendment.

Lewis C. Gotschall, building inspector, appeared at a recent hearing before the Plan Commission and spoke in favor of liberalizing the requirements on building permits.

Rowe Urges Resurfacing

Alderman Rowe raised the question of why more headway is not being made in resurfacing improvements on West State street from Church street to the public square; on the square itself, and on East State street. He said plans for these improvements were supposed to be advanced far enough so that construction could be done this summer, but that it appears that no resurfacing will be done soon.

Mayor DuBois said the plans for the West State improvements have not been completed and have not been sent to Springfield for approval by the state highway department.

Aldermen Souza inquired who is working on the plans. The mayor said the work is being done by Casler & Stapleton.

"No parking" signs which were recently erected at the south end of Dunlap Court near Anna street were ordered removed after motions by Aldermen Sims and DeFrates. One or more residents in the neighborhood had informed councilmen that the signs were not needed.

Payment by an insurance company of a claim for $1,334.92 for damage occurring to a motor at the municipal light plant in November, 1955, was reported by Alderman Souza of the insurance committee.

Change Commission Structure

The council received and heard the reading of a letter from the City Plan Commission which recommended that the city attorney and mayor be removed from the commission as voting members, and that two voting members be appointed in their places. The city attorney and mayor shall remain as ex-officio members.

This change in the make-up of the commission was voted in a resolution after motions by Alderman Sheerin and Belzer. The commission will thus have nine voting members, two to be appointed.

A driveway problem on East Morgan street near East street, which may result in elimination of a parking meter, was referred to the street department for investigation, on motion of Alderman Belzer, seconded by Alderman Tribble.

Would Buy Testing Outfit

While making a report for the police committee, Alderman Fitzsimmons urged the purchase of Safety Lane equipment by the city. The equipment used at the Safety Lane earlier in the summer can be acquired for $500, he said.

After considerable discussion, during which Alderman Mathews said that he could not go along with such a purchase, the mayor suggested that the police department contact departments in other cities, to ascertain the rental possibilities should Jacksonville decide to acquire automobile testing apparatus.

Councilmen engaged in discussion of an agreement with Howard Rees for use of city-owned land adjacent to the Widenham-Daub wells, which has been in effect for some time. On motion of Alderman Johnson, seconded by Alderman Burchett, it was voted to terminate the agreement with Rees within 30 days. Alderman Souza voted "No" on the motion.

Award $666 Contract

Reporting for the sewer committee, Alderman Belzer said the bid of Due Brothers & Garry of $666 for construction of a small chlorination building at the South Side disposal plant was found to be lowest. On his motion, seconded by Alderman DeFrates, the council awarded the contract to the low bidder. Alderman Souza also registered a dissenting vote to this resolution.

Need of a chain saw by the forestry department was reported by Alderman Fitzsimmons. After a short discussion Mayor DuBois advised that a saw belonging to the street department be used when available, and that the purchase of another saw be eliminated as an economy measure.

An ordinance amending the zoning law as applied to a tract on the east side of Hardin avenue near Routt street, owned by MacMurray College, was adopted unanimously. The amendment changes the zone to Class D multiple. The college expects to erect a temporary building on the property, councilmen said.

A plat of the William Wolke subdivision consisting of four lots on Edgehill Court and Chambers street was given approval.
